JOLLY TARS OFF TODAY

Arrangements for Club's Third Cruise.

THIS afternoon the third cruise of the Hawaii Yacht Club takes place. About a dozen of the pleasure fleet will sail down this afternoon and others will go tomorrow morning, and meet the fleet at Paupou. There will be a race for the Turner trophy in the morning around Ford's Island. This is for boats of Class 3, which have been registered and measured.

The course will be the same as in the race on the first regatta, the yachts being started from the Gladys, which will be anchored opposite the shark pen. The boats will receive a preparatory gun five minutes before the starting signal. The start will be a flying one, the time of all being taken at the starting gun.

The boats will sail up the Middle Lochs, keeping buoy of Halawa point on starboard hand and the flag on Walpou point on the port side; thence around Ford's Island, keeping the buoy on the peninsula on port hand and outside the flags on the mauka side of the island; thence to starting point, keeping inside line of buoys. Skippers are cautioned in rounding the island not to shave the reefs too close, for there will be danger of grounding. They must keep at least twenty-five feet outside the flags.

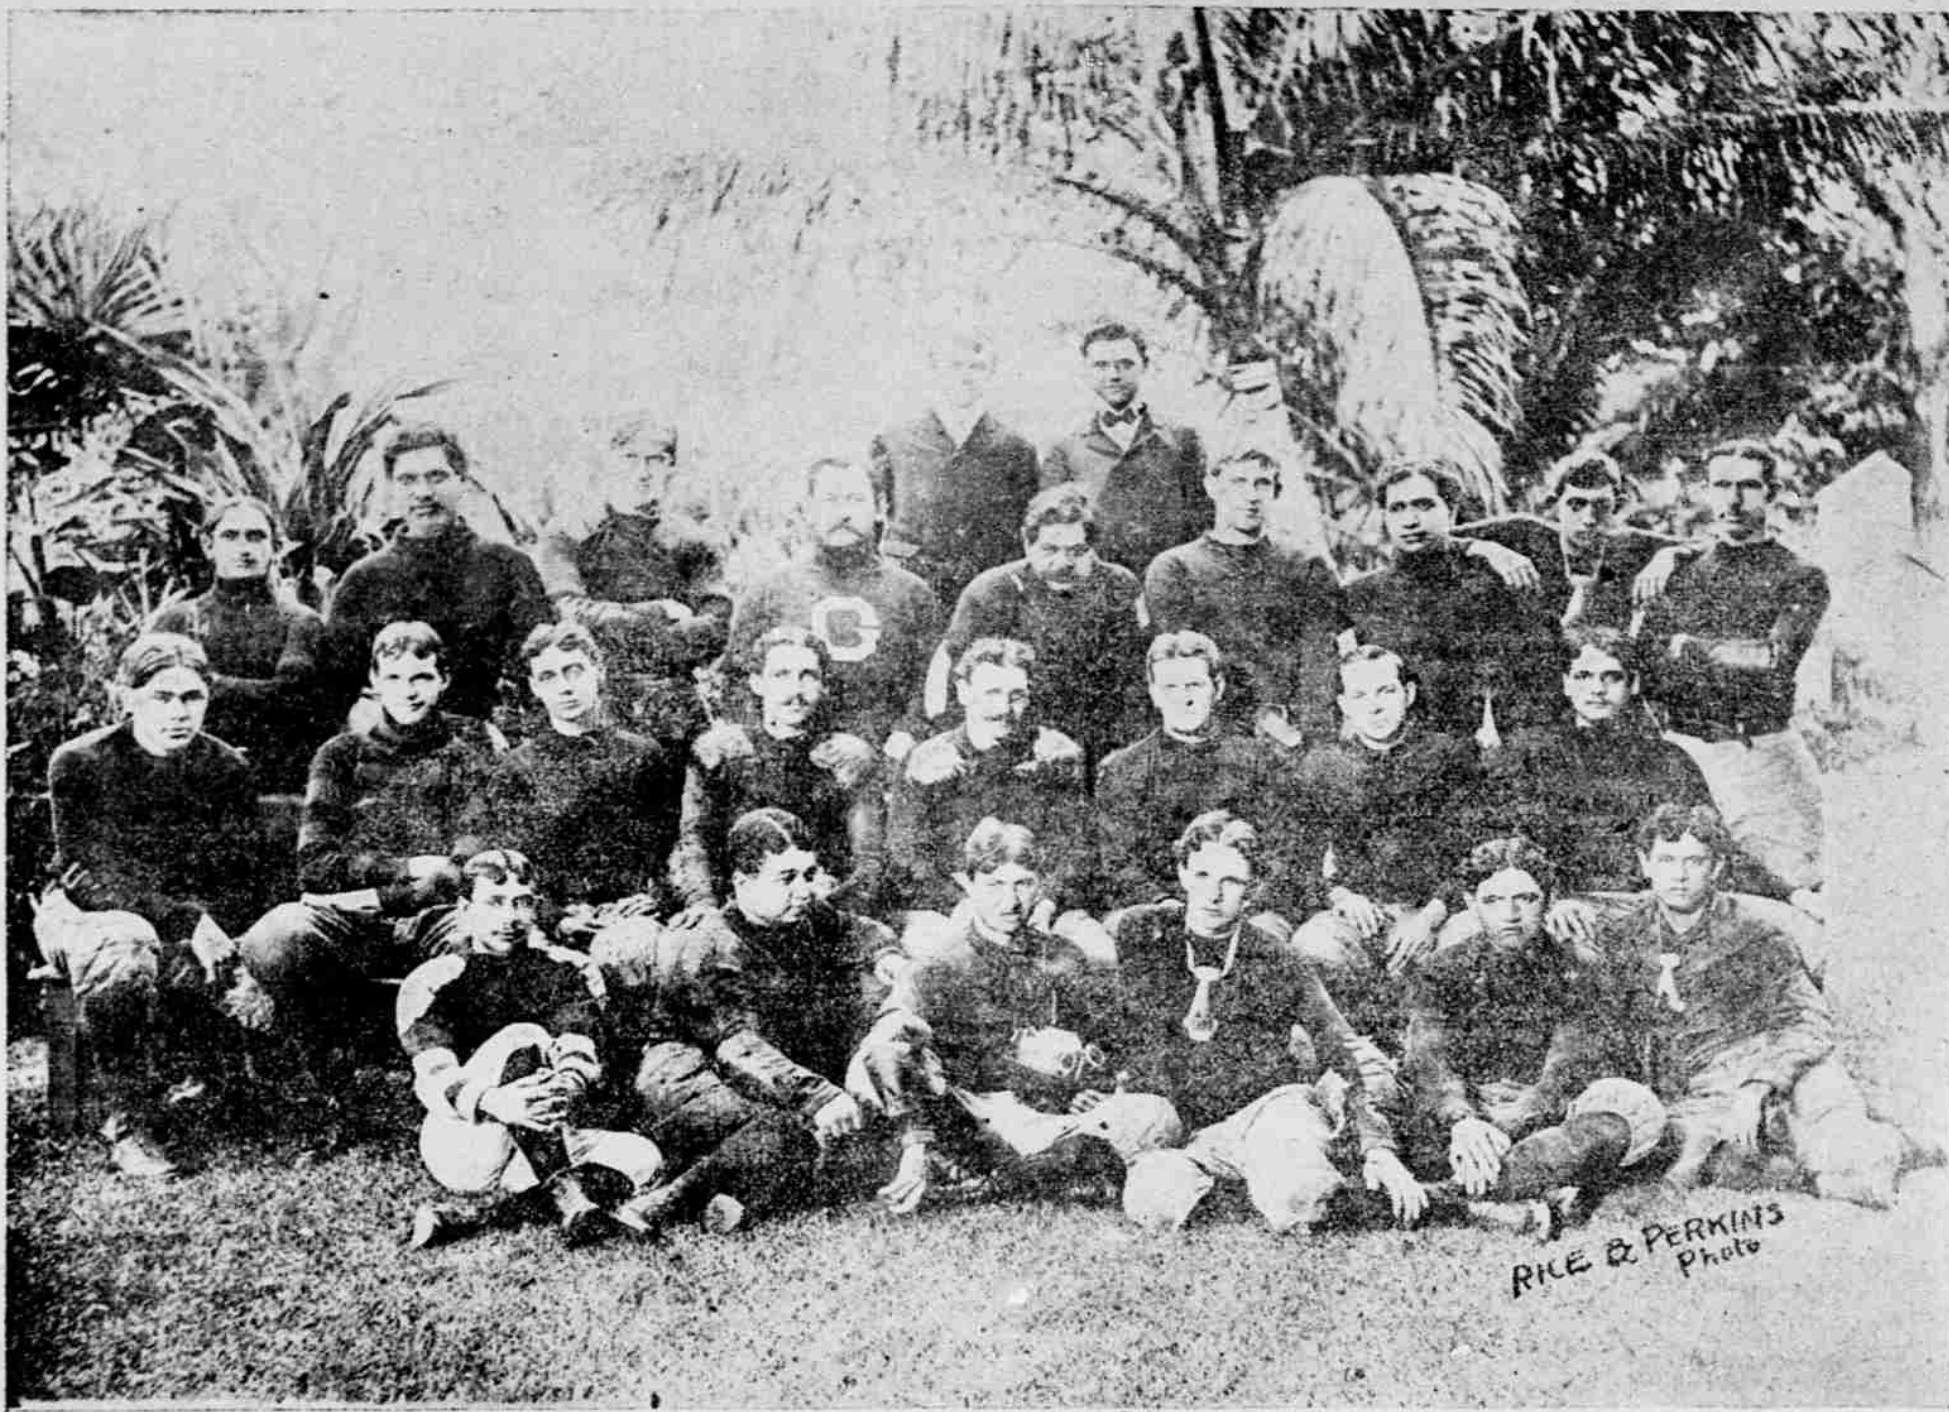

The Regatta Committee will enforce the new measurement rules and all the yachts will have time allowances according to the measurement of the yacht. Each boat will be allowed a crew of four. Light sails are permitted to be used in this race. The yacht making the best corrected time will be awarded the trophy, as it has been decided not to have this prize competed for but once.

There is quite a lively interest in the outcome of this race as there are several new boats in the class which are untried. The Sorenson and Lyle scow-type racer was launched late Thursday afternoon. Quite a number of the yachting fraternity were on hand and watched her for a few minutes under sail. Her trial, however, was brought to a sudden close, for in beating out near the marine railway she struck her rudder on the track carrying it away. She then made a mad rush for one of the boat houses and had it not been for the quick act of one of her crew in jumping overboard and holding her she would have come to grief.

She showed great speed in the light wind, was quick in stays, and should be able to show her heels to the others in her class. She was built from plans in the Rudder and is of the Swallow type. These boats have proved very fast. As the plans have been followed exactly in every particular the local bird should prove as speedy as her sisters across the sea. C. D. Walker has a new craft, and this with the Princess will make three new racers. It is to be hoped there will be a fine breeze and that the yachts will have every opportunity of sailing a good race.

Clarence Crabbe of the Regatta Committee will have charge of the race and will go down on the first train tomorrow morning and will be taken to Paupou by Mr. Cooper in the launch Manuwal.

The skippers of the small craft will undoubtedly arrange for a scrub race

ATTEMPT TO STOP BOXING FALLS THROUGH CONTESTS

IT LOOKED for awhile yesterday as if "Denver" Ed. Smith's benefit would not be allowed to come off today, a protest having been made to Governor Dole by Rev. W. H. Rice, president of the Anti-Saloon League, and others.

In answer to the protest, High Sheriff Brown yesterday received the following communication from Attorney General E. P. Dole:

Honolulu, H. I., Jan. 24th, 1902.
Mr. A. M. Brown, High Sheriff of the Territory of Hawaii, Honolulu:
Dear Sir:—My attention has been called home in the afternoon. This should show up the merits of the small fry in outside sailing if the breeze be good.

The amateur sailors have been busy during the past week fixing up their respective boats for the event. The Shamrock III has been in the hands of the carpenter being strengthened with the view to stopping her old habit of leaking in rough water. The Pirate has had her fin straightened, which was damaged at the time she got adrift a few weeks ago. The small marine railway at the Healan Club has become so worn eaten that the timbers have fallen apart, and it is now useless. The Pirate was hauled up on the float in front of the house.

Those who journey in Pearl Harbor to sleep should remember that the mosquitoes are large and voracious, and should be provided with nets if they intend to pass a comfortable night. Some of the yachts are taking shark bait along and probably ere the night is over some of these tigers of the deep will be hooked. They always afford considerable excitement.

to the boxing contest advertised for tomorrow evening, with the request that such action be taken as the law authorizes. Chapter 33 of the Penal Laws of 1897 is as follows: "Affray—An affray is the fighting of two or more persons in a public place, and includes any prize fight or other premeditated contention where no weapons are used. Whoever takes part in it, encourages or promotes an affray, or is wilfully present as a spectator at any prize fight or other premeditated contention, shall be punished by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars or by imprisonment at hard labor not more than six months."

The definition of affray given in the statute is the same as the common law definition. Wilkes vs. Jackson, 2 N. Y. 335; O'Neill vs. State, 16 Ala. 65. The title of the chapter, "Affray," restricts it, I think, to fighting. The words "or other premeditated contention," are clearly used for the purpose of preventing an evasion of the spirit of the law by any technical or narrow construction of the words "prize fight."

The statute, in my opinion, does not prohibit an exhibition of strength or skill in boxing, although such exhibition may be of a somewhat rough nature. It does prohibit a contest, the nature and intent of which are to win victory by disabling or injuring an opponent; in other words, a contest which is a fight.

I think the department should not interfere with this exhibition, unless it is in the nature of a fight in which it is sought to disable or injure an opponent; but I think a sufficient police force in the charge of a discreet and fearless officer should be ready to stop it peremptorily in case it passes the limits permitted by law.

Very truly yours,
E. P. DOLE,
Attorney General.

The entertainment will, therefore, be carried through as advertised. The program will be as follows, commencing at 8:30 p. m.:
